FOR A WOMAN'S SAKE

BY WATTS PHILLIPS.

CHAPTER IV.

THE ENCOUNTER IN THE WOODS.

About an hour previous to Sir Hugh Willoughby's abrupt entrance into his wife's private apartments, a horseman was riding leisurely along through the Silvery Wood. The horseman was evidently much fatigued, but the rider seemed to care little for it. He was dressed in a riding suit, and his horse was a fine one. He was riding towards the house, and his horse was galloping.

That the day's sport had been a long and trying one might be guessed from the rider's face. He was pale, and his eyes were red. He was riding towards the house, and his horse was galloping.

With these feelings, it seemed some surprise among his friends that Sir Hugh when in his forty-fifth year, should have married a young wife, a Miss Helen Fairmont, twenty-one years of age, and belonging to a good county family, though one that was not traceable as far back as his own. She brought him no dowry, which increased the wonder three-fold.

The union, however, appeared, upon the whole, to have turned out happily. The husband was often disposed to be despondent, the wife was contented to pick a quarrel with his will and the first of a child—a girl—some four years previous to the commencement of our story, did much to smooth down all asperities.

To return to Sir Hugh, when we left riding homeward, and hunting a source and picking at the leaves, carelessly, with the thought of his hunting wife, as he passed down the narrow alleys, which were fast becoming groves of gloom.

Now Sir Hugh was upon his own property, and the road was a private road reserved for the exclusive use of the people of the "Great House," while the man in front neither wore the Willoughby livery, nor could the Baronet recognize him as a servant.

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1871.

As will be perceived from the dispatches our government is just now engaged in chastising the Korean Kingdom for an insult offered us some five years ago, and again at a later date. Inasmuch as the army of Korea is estimated at six hundred and forty thousand men, and her navy at three thousand vessels, carrying from ten to twenty guns each, Uncle Sam may find it a little harder job than he has bargained for.

Corea lies on the east coast of Asia, rather north-east of China and has an area of about ninety thousand square miles, and a population of about twelve millions of people.

The cause of the difficulty is this: Five years ago an American ship went ashore on the Korean coast. The crew were captured and most brutally treated by the Koreans. Our Admiral in command of the Asiatic squadron sent a U. S. steamer to make enquiries and ask an apology. The Koreans, not having the fear of Uncle Sam before their eyes, fired into this steamer, when she turned and steamed back with a report of the outrage. Admiral John Rogers sailed recently for Corea, and has avenged the insult offered our flag in both these instances as the dispatches relate. How the affair will end is, of course, a matter of speculation.

We give, this week, a synopsis of some of the testimony taken before the Ku Klux Committee, in Washington.

That institution, as things are going, bids fair to host its own authors—the Radicals. Deceit compelled them to place some Democrats on the Committee and these are having summoned some of the principal men of the South, whose testimony is directly contradictory of that of such liars as Lakin. We copy below from a Western exchange:

The testimony before the Ku Klux Committee to-day was the most damaging to the Radicals of any yet given. Mr. Adams, formerly of Massachusetts, who went to Mississippi and lately held the office of District Attorney, testified that for the general administration of law, that State could compare with Massachusetts or any other.

Mr. Stables, of the Southern Committee business, gave an exhaustive catalogue, lasting five hours, of the corruption, frauds, stealing and general rascality of the Radical State Government, which was overwhelming. It greatly annoyed the Radical members of the Committee, and John Scott, especially, lost all his temper and self-command, asking questions which seemed to justify these Radical frauds, oppressive taxation and stealing of public money and railroads. As the testimony now stands, the Democrats have the advantage.

Ku-Klux in Dunklin.

[From the Southeast Missouri Enterprise, June 22.]

The New Madrid Record, one of the most intensely Democratic papers in this portion of the State, in its issue of the 10th inst., says:

A four information is correct, a terrible state of affairs exist in West Prairie, Dunklin county. Our Clackson correspondent informs us that on the night of the 1st inst., a party of masked men, or Ku-Klux, took a negro boy out, made him climb a tree, and shot his brains out. Since then we learn the fact that the Ku-Klux have ordered Colonel Wm. Jeffers, a gallant soldier of the Lost Cause, to leave the county on pain of death. The questions are very naturally suggested: Who are these men? What are their intentions? Of what political party? If ever seen they were disguised, and their individual identification is an impossibility.

You've got that thing twisted. They shot his brains out and then made him climb a tree. This view of the subject may appear a little singular at first blush; but we insist that it is no more unreasonable than Bro. Lakin's testimony.

The dedication day of the Masonic Hall, at Oxford, was a magnificent success. The Grand Master of the State was present and the ceremonies were very imposing. Six or seven hundred people were estimated to be present, yet the Oxford people, in their boundless hospitality, made provision for all. The installation of officers did not take place, owing to the lateness of the hour at which the other ceremonies closed. Col. John H. Caldwell delivered an address on the occasion replete with eloquence. We had not the pleasure of hearing it, but we glean the following short notice of it from the Tallapoosa Watch-tower, the editor of which paper was on the ground.

"We have long regarded Col. Caldwell as one of the most effective and polished speakers in Alabama; have heard him frequently at the bar and on the stump, but never when he acquitted himself more creditably than on this occasion. Every sentence was eloquent, every idea was clearly and forcibly elaborated, and delivered in an easy, graceful, and eloquent manner which could not fail to interest and please the attentive listener. As one of the many who derived pleasure and profit from listening to his remarks, we offer our congratulations and thanks."

We thought of replying to "Gadsden Times Man" in this issue, but upon reflection we will not, as the T. & C. R. R. question is now settled to the satisfaction of us all, further than to notice one very badly taken point of his.

He "never knew a newspaper man to do anything for a railroad." Possibly not; but this only proves the limited range of "G. T. M.'s" observation. It cannot be expected that a simple village G. T. M. should know. The newspaper men generally do as much as they are able, to advance railroads when they think the interest of the people that they represent will be promoted by it, and here they differ with the editor of the Times Man, who would not let a railroad be built, and then stop in and take fat contracts and make lots of money, except when they are simple-minded and confiding like G. T. M. and fall into the hands of such men as Stanton. Then they don't make such "great gains" of it.

Tennessee and Coosa R. R. from Gadsden to Guntersville.

Gadsden to Guntersville.

The impression has gone forth that this company had consolidated its charter and franchise with the East Ala. & Cincinnati R. R. Co. This is not exactly the true state of facts. It was not necessary for the latter company to consolidate with the former, to reach Guntersville; for the reason, they have a charter now from Eufaula via Opelika, Oxford and Gadsden to Guntersville.

We learn the true state of facts to be, from the Gadsden Times, that on the 25th of June the Board of Directors of the T. & C. R. R. Co. sold and transferred their road, and work done and right of way &c., to the East Ala. & Cincinnati R. R. Co., on the following conditions.

The latter company is to commence work at Gadsden with 100 hands in 70 days, and pay one fourth of the floating debt of the former company, not to exceed $25,000, and they are to complete five miles of the road by the first of October next, and thirteen miles to the foot of the sand mountain by the first of January next, and the entire road from Gadsden to Guntersville is to be completed in two years; at which time the remainder of the floating debt is to be paid, and individual stock is to be issued to the stockholders of T. & C. R. R. Co. dollar for dollar not to exceed $50,000. Upon the fulfillment of these conditions, a full transfer and conveyance is to be made to the East Ala. & C. R. R. Co. In the mean time the T. & C. R. R. Co. is to retain and preserve their separate corporate capacity. This contract between the contracting parties is to be subject to the approval or rejection of the stockholders in convention assembled on the 3rd day of July at Guntersville.

This is a wise step, taken by the T. & C. R. R. Co. which will secure the completion of their road, and will cause a further extension from both ends, until the sea coast is reached at Savannah and Brunswick, and the interior reached, by connecting lines from the West and Northwest. When this is done it will be the shortest line to the sea board, and the greatest freight line in the South. Onward we trust will be its march to successful completion.

The editor of the Huntsville Advocate (Radical) copies and endorses the article from the State Journal (Radical) in which it was declared that crime in Alabama had no political significance. The editor of the Advocate concludes his article with the declaration that "no citizen, identified in interest with the people, is in danger of molestation on account of his political sentiments." This is the expressed opinion of all the truthful Radicals in our State.

That Ghost on West whose feats we recorded something of some weeks ago, has quit cutting up the hats of reporters, sticking pins in the young ladies of the family, throwing notes about (not bank notes, only when it would "draw" the old gentleman of the family for his) has subsided. Last week we "judge" so, as we can see nothing of his exploits in the editorial columns of the New York Times now like we used to.

Some one entered the store of Mr. N. J. Seagars of Tallapoosa, some nights ago, broke open his safe and took out about five thousand dollars in gold and currency. The safe was one of Herrick, Farrall & Sherman's Safe-making Improved safe, and the safe was broken into with a hand-axe.

Capt. Wm. M. Haines acted D. G. M. in the recent dedication ceremonies at Oxford, J. H. Joiner as G. S. W., Henry A. Earns as G. J. W. and Capt. James B. Farmer as Grand Marshal.

The Chattanooga Times was the most Stanton paper we ever saw. When Stanton took snuff, it sneezed. If anybody said the least thing derogatory to Stanton, such an one had the Times to fight. The Times thought Stanton the greatest and honestest of living men. In those days Stanton had a use for the Times and patted it. Now he don't have, and throws it off from him like a dirty shirt. He wouldn't let the editor "interview" him the other day. He wouldn't even allow him to talk to his (Stanton's) officials around his (Stanton's) headquarters. In short, he snubbed him terribly; and thereat the editor waxed wroth and told what kind of a man he has been defending all along. The disclosures are good, and creditable to neither party. We shall publish them next week.

The Republican had already gone to press before Mr. Mitchell's school gave the agreeable entertainment that we last night had the pleasure of listening to, and therefore we cannot now speak of it to the extent deserved. Will notice it in retrospect next week.

We shall also then say something of the delightful picnic, at the Chalybeate Spring, attended by the young people of Mrs. Mollie Anderson's school and some of the old people with young hearts.

New York, June 26.—Cotton advanced 15¢; upland 20¢.

Notice!

On and after this day, the 1st of July, our offer to take pay for back subscriptions at the rate of $2 a year is withdrawn. From the 25th of February, 1871, our terms were reduced to $2, strictly in advance. We shall in the future adhere to this; but hereafter when the paper is not paid for in advance, we shall charge three dollars. Our terms will read hereafter "Two Dollars in advance, or three dollars at the end of the year." If we have to wait for the money a year, we want the price of the paper.

THE KU-KLUX INVESTIGATION

Testimony of Gen. James H. Clanton.

Gen. James H. Clanton, of Alabama, was before the Southern Outrage committee yesterday for five hours. He said he had lived in Alabama thirty-seven years, in the city of Montgomery over twenty years, was a Union Whig before the war, and the Bell elector in 1860; raised sixty-four companies during the war for the Confederate army; had been the only chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of that State had since the war. He thought he knew the situation in Alabama; did not believe any regularly-organized Ku-Klux association had ever existed in Alabama, had heard of outrages in a few localities by disguised bands; said Alabama was as peaceable and quiet as before the war, that no more violations of law had occurred there since the war than in any of the Northern States; that a great majority of the crimes in that State had been committed by members of the Radical party, that the Democratic party in Alabama was in favor of the education of the negro; that he had advocated it five years ago, in a speech in reply to Wilson, of Massachusetts, at Montgomery; that he had already been advertised to deliver a speech on the 19th of July next, at a State Educational Convention, in favor of the education of the colored race; that the only intimidation he knew of at the last elections was by the Radical colored voters against those of their own color who wanted to vote the Democratic ticket. The cause of all our troubles was the brave men who fought each other in the late war, but the politicians, the camp-followers, sutlers, and horse-leaders, who followed the two armies. The true men of each army respected each other, and were willing to meet, forgive, and forget. That the leaders of the Radical party in Alabama, with but few exceptions, were destitute of moral character—were regular spoliemen; that the negro, where further removed from "carpet-bag and scallawag" influence, behaved best—most of them, under all the circumstances, had behaved well; that a generous policy on the part of the Government would best subserve the interest of both races in the South, and soonest restore the fraternal feeling and the affection which once existed for the Union. The South loved our form of Government, but abhorred its maldadministration. He had always counselled submission to law and order, and believed it could and would be preserved in his State without any outside interference.

Non Richard Busted Before The Ku-Klux Committee

Non Richard Busted, United States District Judge for Alabama, was examined by the Ku-Klux Committee yesterday. He testified that he had been told confidentially a year and a half ago by a citizen of Huntsville that there was a Ku-Klux organization in the northern part of the State. His informant, however, did not tell him his object, nor did he know from any other source. He believed now there was no such organization in that State. Having been asked whether there was any danger to person or property, Judge Busted replied that there were safe in Alabama as in any other State of the Union. Since the administration of Governor Lindsay, and the retirement of Governor William H. Smith, public quiet and tranquillity were essentially preserved.

As to the character of persons holding subordinate official positions under the State constitution, he said it was notoriously bad, both as to intelligence and honesty. He had been in the State since 1865, having previously been appointed judge by President Lincoln. There had been no obstruction to the administration of the affairs of his office, or the laws of the land except in one instance, when the Republican editor of the State disobeyed the injunctions of the court, for which he was fined and imprisoned.

The greatest respect was paid to the judicial authority by lawyers, suitors, jurors, and all other parties. With regard to the feeling of the people toward the General Government, he thought it was to obey the laws, no matter how obnoxious they were, although there was a deep seated conviction that they were not equal and impartial.

Having been questioned as to the testimony of Rev. Mr. Lakin, parts of which were read to him, he said it was entirely untrue. Lakin had represented that thirty-three indictments had been found in Busted's court for violation of the civil rights bill, and had been tried. But the truth was, only one indictment had been found, and that had not yet been tried. On ex parte testimony it appeared to be a serious case. Lakin is a man who is apt to make wild statements without accurate basis. Busted had charged his jurors all ways to obey the laws, however distasteful, as it was within the power of Congress to enact them, and that it was for the best interest of all the community to respect them.

In reply to a question, Judge Busted said he knew a man named Willard Warner who applied for exemption from jury duty in his court in 1867 or 1868, on the ground that he (Warner) was a Senator of the State of Ohio at that time.

Judge Busted also testified that the financial condition of Alabama under Governor Lindsay has improved. The State bonds are now quoted at one hundred and three to one hundred and four, instead of from ninety-seven to ninety-eight and railroad bonds have improved from ninety to ninety-five.

There was other testimony showing that the people of Alabama render obedience to the law, and that there is in that State ample security to life and property, with continuous improvement in all public and private relations.

Washington, June 27.—It is understood that the testimony of Jacobson the President, and Adam, the ex-District Attorney for Mississippi, is fully satisfactory to the Democrats on the committee. Forrest was four hours before the committee. He said, "If the Ku-Klux ever existed in Tennessee it was on account of Brownlow's proclamation of 1867, saying to the militia that they would not be molested for outrages of punishment of rebels, and because of apprehension of injury to persons and property. Many negroes having left their homes and prowling through the country with arms in their hands. Certainly no such organization has existed in Tennessee since 1868. The people are as law abiding and deprecate disturbances as much as those living in the North." The committee treated General Forrest with much courtesy and respect.

Gov Lindsay was before the Ku-Klux Committee for four hours. He testified, as far as his observation extended, that law and order prevailed, that no gross disturbances had taken place within a year and that life and property were both secure and protected; that he had used all means within his power to ascertain if bands of armed masked men known as Ku-Klux, had an organization in the State, and up to the present time he had failed to find that any such organization existed.

Corea, June 29.—Dispatches to the Secretary of the Navy, state that the Koreans, not apologizing for their treacherous attack on the unfortunate crew of the ship General Sherman, which was wrecked there some five years ago, on the tenth instant, the forces under command of Admiral Rodgers, landed on Kang Noe, and took and destroyed the lower fort and munitions; on the eleventh captured the stronghold. Five forts were taken. The number of troops was reported to be eleven thousand. There was some desperate hand to hand fighting in the citadel. The following ordinance was destroyed: four hundred and eighty-one pieces of artillery, principally small brass pieces; and a great many small arms and fifty flags. There were two hundred and forty-three dead Koreans counted around the citadel, and three Americans. The gallant Lieut. McKee was first inside the citadel, and was killed by a bullet and spear. Marine Dennis Hanaahan; and Landsman Seth Allen, were the others. Nine men were wounded, but are all out of danger and are doing well.

Below we copy a very complimentary article of one of the companies which Col. Parr of this place represents. The exhibit places the company in a very favorable light. We wish it a good patronage among us.

[From the Baltimore Underwriter.]

COTTON STATES LIFE INSURANCE CO.

This Company, now in its twenty-second month, is located at Macon, Ga. We have before us the annual report and an exhibit of the present condition of the Company. An examination and analysis will convince any impartial reader that the Cotton States Life Insurance Company has been managed with singular skill, and has passed its experimental period with complete success.

The Cotton States takes a note for one-third of the annual premium, which bears seven per cent. interest, payable in advance, and no bond of any company, whether it be a five-twenty United States security, or a mortgage note on unencumbered real estate, is a safer or more productive investment than this note. If the policy shall become a claim by the death of the insured, the note is good; and if it should be terminated in any other manner, the note is smaller than the note of the company, and the Company is a gainer by the cancellation of the policy and the note. Whether the insured continues a member of the Company, or ceases to be, the note is an available asset of the most indisputable character. A fifty per cent. note would not in all cases be safe, because it might be lost or stolen, and the insured would have to pay for a new one. Every forty per cent. note is not safe for every age on ordinary life policies, but the one-third note is a gilt-edged security, and the company runs no more risk in taking them than a State issuing which buys its own bonds for a safety fund. We make no apology for these notes, because they need them. They may be objectionable to the insured who give them. They may encourage the abandonment of policies, by permitting the members to retire, carrying with them a large part of the deposit which belongs to them. They may prevent the Company from wronging the insured by exacting too heavy a charge when they are forced by necessity to discontinue their annual premiums. They may excite dissatisfaction by the increase of the annual cash payments. They may be objectionable to the policyholders for other reasons; but the largest and strongest ground amongst us here is no safer investments than the thirty three per cent. notes of the Cotton States Insurance Company.

The assets of the Cotton States Life Insurance Company aggregate $562,606 72. Its total income for 1870 was $384,147 75, insuring $5,675,456. Its reserve is computed at $187,710 50. Now let any reader compare these figures with any of the Northern Companies which are in their twenty-third month, and see if the Cotton States Life Insurance Company does not exhibit as fair a record, and present to the public as much security as any of the Northern Companies of its age.

The assets of the Cotton States Life Insurance Company, with deposits of $100,000 in Georgia and $50,000 in South Carolina, the Cotton States can point to the fact that in the short time of twenty months it has issued 2,400 policies to the people among whom it is known, which is the best endorsement it can have. It has not branched out into unknown fields, but has strengthened amongst its neighbors in Georgia and South Carolina. It is fast having the foundation for a great and splendid superstructure. Its policyholders are mostly from Georgia, North and South Carolina, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee and Florida; recently it has entered the State of Maryland, where it has done a very prosperous business, and with the best prospect of increased work as the Company grows in age and size. Wherever its officers are known, and that is throughout the South, the Company has won confidence and built up a good business. Its deposits with State departments are not drawn from the premium assets as has been the case with some of the companies, but are made up of the assets of the Company.

The assets of the Cotton States have far less of uncertainty than are usual in life insurance companies. Its assets include agents and control of transmission exhibit close collection on the part of the officers of the Company, and attest the carefulness of its management. Its losses in 1870—amounting to $43,500—were promptly paid; and all its other expenses amounted to but $83,405 04, which included commissions, salaries and agency expenses. The fact that the Cotton States Life Insurance Company paid all its losses and all its expenses during its first year, and had a surplus of receipts, without touching a dollar of its capital, is a lesson in management and economy, which if Northern Companies like the Great Western, the Farmers & Mechanics, and the American Fidelity Insured, they would not have involved the losses that have befallen their inglorious career.

This Company has a subscribed capital of half a million dollars. It holds the President and most of the stockholders, and we are sure they are able to respond to the full amount of this subscription. They had in thirty per cent. cash and have never withdrawn a single dollar for dividends. Every dollar of their paid-up capital has been wisely invested by their Finance Committee, and deposited with the Controllers of Georgia and South Carolina. In accordance with their charter and the law, and the semi-annual interest on these investments has been regularly added to the assets of the Company. It is a single life company in New York or New England that has as large a capital, and only one or two that has as large a paid-up cash capital.

We do not know a safer test of the soundness and strength of a company than the percentage which its assets exceed its liabilities. If a company's assets exceed its liabilities, it cannot be said to be rich or strong. If it counts up on the first of January of every year every security it holds, and every dollar of its secured interest, and every dollar in the market value of its bonds and stocks, and calculates its liabilities by a low standard, and then divides the excess among its members, so that its assets are just equal to its liabilities, it is not a company of strength. If a bank in olden times had no reserve and no capital, and every dollar of its assets was balanced by a bank note in circulation, we would not have the highest confidence in its bills. And the ratio which its assets exceeded its liabilities would be a good measure of its reliability. Now by this standard the Cotton States Life Company surpasses its Eastern competitors. It has a large capital. It calculates its liabilities by the high standard of Massachusetts, which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said County; and in obedience to the requirements of said law, I, not Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.

When are we to have Othello? We hope the "troupe" have not abandoned the intention of giving it to us.

The negro who so brutally assaulted old man Jordan is in jail at Rome. The old gentleman was still alive at last accounts, but something worse.

"BIG BEET."—We have received from Mrs. Dr. Linder, the largest Beet of the season. This one is twenty-one inches in circumference. Who can beat it?

Those papers that are still running the "Parlor Album" had as well take a new "departure." It is a swindle and the cleverest one that has ever yet been rubbed over us.

Hon. Alexander Stephens has bought an interest in and will henceforth be the political Editor of the Atlanta Sun.

Hon. C. L. Valandigham shot himself through the bowels and not his head, as we stated last week.

We have received a copy of the List of Pretensions for 1871. The Fair will begin Tuesday Oct. 10th, and will continue four days. Of course it will be a success. Those of our friends who may desire to compete for premiums can see the list at this office.

We learn that it is contemplated to establish a Good Templar's Society here. The move is a good one and we most heartily commend it. We for one shall go into this "departure" without even a pause to take a "stirrup cup."

Capt. Geo. S. Ruble, of the firm of Ruble & Hight, Chattanooga, Tenn., called on us Monday. He reports that he has sold two thousand in our section this season. He has sold some previously. He has done this by advertising in THE REPUBLICAN and having a good man, Maj. P. Rowan, as agent.

We are indebted to Master Willie Rowland for late favors. He has opened up a very handsome news depot, and henceforth will supply books and magazines to our people at a rent of 10 cts. per day, or sell them to them at reasonable prices. He is a nice boy and deserves success.

The Gadsden Times has changed hands. Mr. A. F. Henderson of the Tuskegee News, and more lately of the Montgomery MAIL, having purchased the interest of Mr. Francis M. Henderson is a journalist of experience and talent, and will no doubt succeed well in his chosen field of labor. The Times is a fine established paper and Gadsden one of the best points in the State. We wish Mr. H. great success.

Evening drives to the Chalybeate springs is now the order of the day. The road is not so good as might be desired. The Corporation will lend a hand and the mule and cart, we feel assured, to better it. Who of our citizens will lend a hand to assist? The Town authorities are not compelled to work far out in that direction. Much has already been done by some of our worthy citizens; but more remains to be done. Who will appoint a day?

We are pleased to learn that decided steps are being taken by our citizens to grade a road across Blue Mountain, east of here, at Pruitt's gap, to White Plains. We trust the citizens of White Plains and Chocomauc Valley will give a hearty co-operation in accomplishing this much desired and very important improvement.

We have been getting up those mills "on the other side of the river" claimed by our Gadsden friends. Possibly we may not have them all. If not we ask our friends there to supply us the remainder of the list. Here is the names of those we have already secured. Nowlin's mill, Helen's mill, Elias Reed's mill, Woodford's mill, Caddell's mill.

Judge Woods of the District Court of the U. S., on last Saturday decided, in the case of the Ala. & Chattanooga Rail Road, that it cannot be put into bankruptcy, and ordered it turned over to those formerly in possession. So Stanton will continue to run the concern. The latest we have from it is that some of the employees of the road at Meridian had so fixed a train of cars at that point that they could not be run out. We look for such interruptions, constantly, until the laborers are paid off by Stanton; though such a state of things is to be regretted.

"Aunt" Violet has presented us some of her nicely baked sponge and tea cakes. As we have before remarked, she is the best and cleanest cook about town and never makes a failure. She has some very nice ones now at Montgomery Bros. for sale, or she will for a consideration bake for any lady who will send her the material. This arrangement will spare some families who cannot boast of good cooks (a rare article now-a-days) a deal of trouble. Violet ought to be encouraged.

We have received for publication another new schedule for the Selma Rome and Dalton Railroad, but too late for publication this week. It goes into effect on the 1st day of July. Passenger trains on the road will leave Jacksonville from that date, as follows:

GOING NORTH.

2 51, P. M. Express—Daily.

10 26, P. M. Mail.

GOING SOUTH.

12 37, A. M. Mail—Daily.

11 43, A. M. Express.

We will insert the remainder of the advertisement in our next.

The proprietors of the Rome Commercial now issue a morning and evening edition of their excellent paper.

An application will be made at the next term of our Commissioners Court to open a first grade new road, in the direction of Alexandria, from the railroad depot. This, if opened, will be a very important road to the citizens of Alexandria and vicinity, as it will shorten, we are informed, the round trip to our depot from two miles and a quarter to two miles and a half, under the main road now travelled. This new road should have been opened long ago, and we trust there will be no delay in accomplishing the work. The wants of the people demand it, and this great want should be gratified.

We are gratified that our exchanges generally are copying as per request, the proceedings of the Delegates of the 10th Ala. Regiment. The time decided upon is the 27th of July. Keep it before them. We want a large attendance.

We notice that the Eleventh Alabama, of the same Brigade, is making preparation to have one too. The old 10th must not be eclipsed if she can help it. The Eleventh will have a big turnout.

We learn from Mr. Puck, the courteous General Ticket Agent of the S. R. & D. R.R., that members of the 10th Ala. Regt. will be passed over the line to the Reunion, at Shelby Springs, for half fare—the members to pay full fare going down and nothing coming back. A special train for the Reunion of the 10th Ala. Regt. will be started in time to take all the members to the Springs on the day appointed. Next week we hope to be able to give the time at which the train will pass each depot along the line. We tender the thanks of the Regiment, in advance, to the Road for the courtesy thus shown us.

We are requested to call attention to the communication of 'A Citizen' in our last, for the purpose of explaining a portion of it that might lead to a misapprehension in the minds of some. The author speaks of Gen. Wm. H. Forney in connection with the "corps of instructors" in a manner that might lead them to believe that he really stood in that relation to the College, when he is in fact President by virtue of his office of President of the Board of Directors. Of course it would not injure the College in any manner, but rather redound to its benefit, if the Gen'l was really to occupy a chair in that institution; but it is best to have no other than a correct impression go out. The Gen'l is still engaged in the law and has not time, if he had the inclination, to spare from his extensive practice to devote to the work. Our correspondent of course did not mean to leave such an impression, but in the connection in which he so justly complimented Gen'l F., his article was susceptible of such construction.

Proceedings of the Council—JACKSONVILLE ALA.

MONDAY JUNE 26, 1871.

Council Chamber.

Present.—G. L. Turnley, Mayor.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

On motion—a standing committee was appointed, to inspect, each month, the streets and give the Marshal orders as to how the same shall be worked.—Woodward and Privett, committee.

The Marshal presented the following Report of work done on the streets since he came into office, which was received and ordered spread on the minutes.

TO THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—In obedience to your requirement I have the honor to report that my first work began on Depot Street, which was somewhat in need of repair. This I put in good condition. My next work was done on the Rome road leading North from town. I employed three hands on it for two days, draining and bridging the worst places. I left it in very good condition. I also did three days work on the Alexandria road from Williams' branch out. The Rabbit Town road I found almost impassable. Knowing its importance to the town I bestowed a great deal of labor on it. (Gulches to the depth of five or six feet ran, in several places, almost across the road. I employed wagons and teams in addition to the mule and cart in hauling rock to fill, and timber to bridge these. I bestowed over one hundred dollars worth of work on this road from the foot of Nisbet's hill to the far corner of McGinnis' field; though the money actually expended in the work by the Incorporation did not amount to that sum. As your committee know, I have graded and set in the fences along College street so as to greatly improve its appearance and make it a first class street. I have graded and gravelled a sidewalk leading from the old Sunny South office to the corner of Mr. Grant's square, as also the sidewalk leading from the lower corner of Mr. Fleming's lot to the foot of the hill. I have repaired the culvert on main street so as to prevent further washing. I have hauled rock and brush to many of the bad gullies along the back alleys and they are now rapidly filling up. I have repaired several of the more numerous repairs too tedious to mention has been made on the various streets of the Town. This was almost entirely done on the old taxes of last year. With a portion of this year's taxes I hope to be able to do much more, when the Town will present a better and more beautiful appearance. Hoping that this hurried report will be accepted in lieu of a longer and more specific one.

I am, very Respectfully,

Your ob't. Serv't.

S. M. PRUITT, Marshal.

On motion, the account of W. C. McFarland for $5, was allowed and ordered to be paid.

On motion Council adjourned until next regular meeting.

Ku-Klux—Narrow Gauge Railroads and Fish Culture in Alabama.

SPRING VILLA, Ala., June 19.

"Have you met any Ku-Klux yet?"

"No sir."

"Seen any narrow gauge railways?"

"No."

"Well, wait until to-morrow, and I will show you both."

And they were both the same—at least, one was a part of other. Kuklux" was the terror inspiring name given to the little iron horse on the little iron road.

So it is—that is, Mr. Tieknor of the Opelika Locomotive, and your correspondent—left Opelika in the afternoon by the Western railway four miles to Youngsboro, and then went out three miles by the NARROW GAUGE RAILWAY to the Chevalach line works, to which the road belongs. The road is three miles long and has a three foot gauge. It has just been finished and cost, so Dr. Lee, the President informed me, about four thousand dollars per mile, including the two cars and the two mules, its present "rolling" stock. The little engine "Kuklux" is not on this road, but belongs to a narrow-gauge road running from Chehal to Tuskegee a distance of five or six miles.

I asked Dr. Lee if he did not think a narrower gauge would have answered his purpose, and cited the railway in Wales, which has a gauge of only twenty-two inches. He said it would not, before building his road he had visited several narrow-gauge roads—some of two and some of two and a half and three feet, and he found that the three-foot gauge was best in many respects. An embankment of less width on the top would not stand in this country, the very little greater length of the cross ties amounted to nothing and the trains would carry more and go at a faster speed. He thought trains could go with safety over a three-foot gauge at the rate of TWENTY FIVE MILES PER HOUR.

I should however, as a passenger be contented with a speed of ten miles. As the subject of narrow gauge roads is becoming of much interest, especially in the South, I was glad of the opportunity to see one in operation. Their cost is so little, compared to the ordinary roads, that they can be built in sparsely settled countries, and as local roads to connect one town with another.

A disease they call spotted fever is killing many valuable horses in New York. If it should kill Dexter and Dexter's death should kill Bonner and Bonner's death should kill the Ledger and the death of the Ledger should kill the city of New York.

A Few Words to the Ladies.

Many ladies, particularly mothers nursing complain of a tired, listless feeling, or complete exhaustion, on arising in the morning. On the wife and mother devolves the responsibility of regulating the duties of the household. Her cares are numerous, and the mental as well as the physical powers are frequently called into requisition. She often finds her slightest occupation a weary task and existence a burden, while at the same time she has no regular disease. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters if resorted to at this period will prove a most valuable remedy for this annoying lassitude. The effects of this potent agent are soon seen in the rosy cheeks and elastic step of the head of the family, as with restored health and renewed spirits she takes her accustomed place in the family circle. If this friend in need be regularly used, those depressing symptoms will never be complained of, and not only would lassitude not be experienced, but many diseases following its advent be avoided. As a medicinal agent it has no equal, while its pleasant flavor and healthful effects have made it a general favorite. It is free from all properties calculated to injure the system, and its operations are at once mild, soothing and efficient. All who have used the Bitters attest its virtues and commend it to use.

Good News.

That greatest of Living Remedies, Glabe Boveri, Cough Syrup is now sold in your Town, so that all may test its great virtues. It contains no Opium in any form, nor any other poison. It positively cures Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore throat, Oppression of the chest and spitting of blood. It is legally warranted to cure, so that none can be humbugged by it. Just try it and be convinced. Sold by Dr. Nisbet.

Look Out!!!

for the impurities of the blood during the Summer months, and the long train of terrible diseases which follow. Pemberton's Compound Extract of Sillene purifies the blood, cures Scrofula in its worst forms, cures Rheumatism, Syphilis and Gout and removes all Mercurial and venereal taint from the system. It is legally warranted to cure. Sold by Dr. Nisbet.

Dr. C. C. Porter will hereafter be in Jacksonville the first week in each month to attend to any duties connected with his profession. Parties in need of his services would do well to remember this.

Chemistry is furnishing us new agents for fuel, force, food, and many other important aids over those we once possessed. Ports from which commerce was driven during the hot months by their terrible fevers, are visited all the year with impunity now. Many localities in the South and West, kept homeless by their terrible miasma are now filling up with populations under the protection of Ayer's Agree Cure. Their afflicting chills and fevers are so effectually cured by this remedy, that the disease no longer turns emigration aside, or destroys the settler if he ventures upon its infected districts. I asked Dr. Lee if he did not think a narrow gauge would have answered his purpose, and cited the railway in Wales, which has a gauge of only twenty-two inches. He said it would not, before building his road he had visited several narrow-gauge roads—some of two and some of two and a half and some three feet, and he found that the three-foot gauge was best in many respects. An embankment of less width on the top would not stand in this country, the very little greater length of the cross ties amounted to nothing and the trains would carry more and go at a faster speed. He thought trains could go with safety over a three-foot gauge at the rate of TWENTY FIVE MILES PER HOUR.

I should however, as a passenger be contented with a speed of ten miles. As the subject of narrow gauge roads is becoming of much interest, especially in the South, I was glad of the opportunity to see one in operation. Their cost is so little, compared to the ordinary roads, that they can be built in sparsely settled countries, and as local roads to connect one town with another.

A disease they call spotted fever is killing many valuable horses in New York. It is thought that Dexter and Dexter's death should kill Bonner and Bonner's death should kill the Ledger and the death of the Ledger should paralyze the pens of Panny Pen and Sylvanus Connelly, the glory of American literature would be at an end. For goodness sake let the veterinary surgeons of New York spread themselves.

 A Few Words to the Ladies
 Many ladies, particularly those nursing complain of a tired, listless feeling, or complete exhaustion, on arising in the morning. On the wife and mother devotes the responsibility of regulating the duties of the household. Her cares are numerous, and the mental as well as the physical powers are frequently called into requisition. She often finds her slightest exertion a heavy task, and a burden, while at the same time she has no regular disease. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters if resorted to at this period, will prove an unfailing remedy for this annoying lassitude. The effects of this potent agent are soon seen in the rosy cheek and elastic step of the head of the family, as with restored health and renewed spirits she takes her accustomed place in the family circle. If this Bitter is used regularly, those depressing symptoms will never be complained of, and not only will lassitude not be experienced, but many diseases following its advent be avoided. As a medical agent it has no equal, while its pleasing flavor and healthful effects have made it a general favorite. It is free from all properties calculated to impair the system, and its operations are at once mild, soothing and efficient. All who have used the Bitters attest its virtues and commend it to use.

Good News.
 That greatest of Living Remedies, Globe Power Cough Syrup is now sold in your Town, so that all may test its great virtues. It contains no Opium in any form, nor any other poison. Sold by Dr. Nisbett.

 For the impurities of the blood during the Summer months, and the long train of terrible diseases which follow. Chemistry is furnishing us now agents for fuel, force, food, and many other important aids over those we once possessed. Ports from which commerce was driven during the hot months by their terrible fevers, are visited all the year with impunity now. Many localities in the South and West, kept benumbed by their deleterious miasma are now filling up with populations under the protection of Ayer's Aque Cure. Their afflicting chills and fevers are so effectually cured by this remedy, that the disease no longer turns emigration aside, or destroys the settler if he ventures upon its infected districts. ALEXANDRIA, ALA.

July 1st, 1871.

Mr. Editor:

You know, (if you don't, you're lamentably ignorant of great events, of the day,) that the boys of Mr. Matthew Matties' school, gave an exhibition last night, admission gratis, children half price, I was there "you bet!" I went over to the College about half past eight o'clock, and walked into the hall where the exhibition was going to be exhibited; but in a moment, as gracefully as a barefooted turkey walking on a hot grid-iron, when—Old my Golly! such a vision of beauty and loveliness as I saw, only once in a lifetime; falls to the lot of mortal man. I was struck all-in-a-heap, entranced, petrified, transfixed to the spot, a point of admiration, staring in open-mouthed wonder, with eyes resembling the bottoms of two green gull-bill ducks—I thought it must be a dream—the creation of an excited brain, and could not be real; that I was in a land of enchantment, or in the suburbs of Paradise; thought I was—, but when words fail, the most glowing and rapturous description would seem cold, and unmeaning; the most vivid imagination; would die in despair, in trying to give you the faintest conception of it.

Jacksonville, his wife, beautiful female daughters, numerous and lovely offspring, and all their relations, were there. Beauty in abundance—whole lots of it—beauty of all styles in small medium, and large packages. Some of them (one of them in particular) lovely enough, to transform into full blown angels, by glancing on a pair of swan's wings—clowny lips, O, so bewitching, while innocent, unadorned, whistled their soft nothings, in shell-like ears—mistakes "smiled" before they went there! All went as merry as two marriageable bachelors. I didn't see much of that exhibition, but saw enough to know that the "Young Americas" acted well their parts. While looking on, memory was busy with recollections of "childhood's days"—how, when a boy, I went through the same performances, and how hard I would try to please a certain little blue-eyed early head fair, and how in after years, (when I had "put away childish things") one night, I was standing down by the gate, with the moon-beams trickling down through the rose bushes to the head of the same little blue-eyed fairy, and when from the fullness of an overgrowing heart, I leaned forward and said: "Will thou be mine," the little curly head dropped forward, until it found a resting place on the North-East button of my vest, and—she whirled—All those were happy days, and the I tell you in the "sere and yellow leaf," "wearing of the grey" (in my hair) they're fresh and green in my memory yet—I sigh, (as I think of them now) like the last agonizing wail of the tree toad; and exclaim: "O, would I were a boy again." Please give my thanks to Mr. Matties and the exhibitors for their kindness and their first-class entertainment. Present a ton of my regards to Jacksionville's fair and beautiful daughters.

With highest regard, Yours,

PHIL OSIFER.

We're glad to announce that our suggestion in relation to a concert for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church Steeple is about to be followed. The young people will give a concert for the purpose of raising funds to build it. They will give a very attractive program and will make at least one hundred dollars. We say $200, and keep giving them until a sufficient fund is raised to complete the work.

Miss Anna Courtney Hoke has, after an absence of some months at school in Mobile, returned to us, to spend a season until she goes back to graduate. She is one of our most accomplished young ladies and will no doubt graduate with honors.

It may not be generally known to the 10th Ala., that Maj. Chas. Smith (Bill Arp) and another gentleman from the 8th Ga., volunteered and went into the Drainsville fight with them. "Bill Arp" says he will be at Shelly Springs at the reunion certain. This is certainly another attraction.

We surrender this week, most of the space usually occupied by editorial, to our correspondents from Alexandria, White Plains, and other points.

We invite the attention of all persons who are seeking a pleasant and healthy Summer resort, to the letter from White Cliff Springs. All, and more than all said in favor of this picturesque place, the virtues of its mineral waters, and the excellent Hotel kept by Mr. J. A. Peck, is true. All persons who have visited these Springs have been highly pleased and delighted.

We refer our readers to the communication of "Phil Osifer," for a description of Mitchell's Examination. We will refer to the "points" in water works next week.

Billy's School at Cross Plains was a perfect success—Will notice more next week.

In the same connection we must notice our Cross Plains' trip. Continued absence prevents mention this week.

We cannot but help to notice Grady of the Home Commercial and the Tennessee House. Next week we will enlarge on our trip.

Later advices from the West and California narrate the details of recent Indian outrages in Arizona and Texas. One man was tortured to death by fire, and the other butchered. A body of Government troops reported having killed forty-three Apaches and recovered a large quantity of stolen property.

Special Notices.

A SUGGESTION.—Why is it that our citizens may not organize clubs, for the purchase of tickets in the great Land and Immigration scheme of Messrs. Butler Chadwick & Gray, the drawing of which takes place in October next. A club of ten for instance would purchase ten tickets, and the holder of one of the ten, would be entitled to a proportionate share of all the prizes that might be drawn. Thus twenty-five dollars invested in five clubs of ten persons each, would secure to each person fifty chances, or in the proportion of ten to one. The grand idea is to win something, and that which diminishes risk will of course be the most popular scheme. If our ladies especially will undertake the formation of these Clubs among their friends and neighbors, good luck will be sure to look in on some of them.—July 8 1871.

HAIR VIGOR.—In connection with many others we have felt a lively interest in the investigations which Dr. Ayer has been making to discover the causes of the loss of the hair, and to provide a remedy. His researches are said to have been much more thorough and extensive than any ever made before. The result is now before us under the name of Ayer's Hair Vigor. We have given it a trial in every full, and it certainly is one of the most favorable preparations. Our gray hairs have disappeared, or resumed their original color, and a visible crop of soft, silken hair has started on a part of the scalp which was entirely bald. (Democrat, Alexandria, Va.)

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, JULY 15, 1871.

The New Departure.

The "New Departure" is a cowardly abandonment of Democratic principles—a knavish somersault from the true faith to Monroism. Its only claim upon the support of honest men is that it is a piece of diplomatic hypocrisy. It lacks the wisdom of conservatism, the audacious strength of Bourbonism, and the turbulent glory of "progressive" fanaticism. It is tame, ineffectual, deceitful! Its triumph is a radical victory. Its defeat is a fitting consequence of its living stupidity.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

The above, under caption of The "New Departure," we have clipped from the inside, and North-west corner of the "Rome Daily Commercial," of 5th July. And not knowing what is meant by the term, the "New Departure," and wishing to avoid contamination with such hypocritical, and distasteful thing as it is above represented; we desire that the Rome Daily Commercial explain to us what is meant by the term, the "New Departure," as used in the above.

It may not do us much credit, but in truth we have not yet seen, or known any "New Departure," from the good old Democratic faith, except in case of an isolated individual, or Newspaper here and there, who are more earnestly seeking gain, or personal preferment and renown, than the success of the principles of Democracy.

Will the Rome Daily Commercial, enlighten us upon this question?

Most respectfully,

DEMOCRATS.

We have time to say only a word of our trip to Rome. Reaching Cross Plains we stopped over a few hours to attend the closing exercises of Maj. Baileys school. We at once put up with Hood, the very prince of hotel keepers, got a fine supper, accompanied him to the Academy, and was delighted from that time until the arrival of the train, with the exercises of the evening. The pupils acquitted themselves very creditably indeed, and the Major should be proud of them. The music was perfect, and our people will readily agree that we tell the truth when they know it was conducted by the accomplished Miss Bailey and the beautiful Miss Dail, both of whom have very fine voices and one of whom is par excellence the instrumental performer of this portion of Alabama. Failing to secure the programme we cannot mention others by name (not knowing them) who acquitted themselves with great credit. Maj. Bailey has a very flourishing school and is winning deserved laurels every season.

Leaving Cross Plains on the 10 o'clock train we reached Rome after night. Next morning we walked out and spent a very pleasant time at the two newspaper offices and among old friends. We met the accomplished Mayor Smith, the witty "Bill Arp," the venial Perry, the talented Maj. Scott, the genuine Grayles, the clever Dwinell, the poet and scholar Sawyer, many of the shrewd business men of Rome, her best of hotel men Stansbury, the ubiquitous Mosleys, and many others "too numerous to mention." Rome is a great place—Rome is a magnificent place—Rome is Rome, and when we say that, we say all that can be said to those who "have been there." We revert to Stansbury, to mention again his good hotel. Those who stop with him will find good fare, a clever host, and receive all the attention that the most exacting could require.

Another Terrible Rail Road Accident.

On the night of the 3rd inst., while a train was passing over the Harpeth river bridge, 14 miles from Nashville, on the Northwestern Railroad, the bridge gave way and three cars were precipitated 20 feet down into the river, in water seven or eight feet deep. The engine, tender and baggage car had passed over before the bridge gave way. The smoking car, ladies car and sleeping car went down. In the ladies car 13 out of 20 were killed. Seventeen dead bodies have been taken from the wreck, and some 25 or 30 wounded. The timbers of the bridge, it is stated were very rotten, and had been in an unsafe condition for some time past.

We are glad to see in our town Hon. J. J. Parker, Sec'y. of State who has with his family come to spend a part of the hot season among us. He has been with us but a few days, yet he has made many friends. He has an exceedingly pleasant address and would in a short time become very popular in any community in which he might settle. The State might have been rescued from one end to the other and no better and fitter man could have been chosen for the honorable and responsible station he holds than he himself. We wish both him and his family a pleasant time while sojourning among the mountains.

We are authorized, by Mr. Shaw, the polite and very efficient Asst. Sup't. of the South & North Ala. R. R., to say that two daily trains are now running on that Road between Calera and Montgomery, except on Sunday. On that day only one train will be run, leaving Calera at 4:10 P. M. This as will be observed, makes connections with the two daily trains on the Selma Rome and Dalton Railroad. The trip from Jacksonville to Montgomery now can be made in about six hours. The S. & N. Road is a live road and has live and efficient officers to run it. We will, at another time, say something more of that excellent Road.

The Water Works survey goes bravely on, and our people may soon look for the mountain water to be spouting out within easy reach of all.

VISIT TO OXFORD.

Examination &c.

Mr. Grant:

I thought that if President Grant could leave off and go to Long Branch, I could quit my gubernatorial Chair, and drop down to the Examination of the Oxford College. I had heard so much said of the people of Oxford and its vicinity, that I thought I would call and see for myself. Oxford in the old country is a famous place for schools, so it promises to be, in the new world I had heard a great deal of the kindness and hospitality of its people. I found it so—found the "hatch-string hanging out," and like the Queen of Sheba's visit to King Solomon, found the half had not been told. I was not at every point with a kind word and hearty welcome. I was assisted by Capt. Renfro with my bag and baggage to the hotel. I stayed, lodged and breakfasted with my friend Tom Walker of the 10th Ala. I dined with Dr. Snow, after some pleasant rides in his carriage, supped with my friend Daniel Draper Esq., and the same night attended a soiree at the hospitable home of my old North Carolina friend, Jas. Gladden. Had the pleasure of being presided over by that Queen-like looking daughter of his, Miss Fannie—her party was quite a success. I stayed over for the picnic, and was pleased that I had done so, for a ministering angel woman loaded my platter to the utmost fill.

If your space would admit, I would like to say something of the Teachers and scholars of the College—building being octagon shaped, on the plan of the Athenian Temple of the Winds. Of those who received diplomas: Mr. McAllen, Miss Weaver and Woodruff, and of those four lovely little girls who played and sang the sweet air "Honey-suckle gleam"—Say something of the original speeches of Robt. Watkins, Dudley Williams, C. P. Carter, N. A. Allen, also the declaration of a Mr. Hayes, who spoke Spartans to the gladiators in a deep sounding tone, that one would have thought that Tully had burst the tomb—say something of Mr. C. Williams, and our Jacksonville youth, W. E. Turnley, acting marshal for the term. Also L. Scarborough and that precocious master, Arthur Smith, of Selma, Ala. Noddy Simoth's &c., but space and time will not admit. Afterwards, Rev. Mr. Henderson addressed the audience on the duties of the times. He was truly eloquent and to the point, impressed the sentiment that "Labor sanctifies one." So thought I too, but the time was under the impress that "Amor sanctifies man." Mr. Henderson urged the old Roman sentiment, "Necessitas" as the great thing for we poor, down-trodden Rebs. I wish, Mr. Grant, that you could have heard Capt. Sam Kelley of the 30th Ala. Regt., urging the audience to assist a poor wounded soldier, who was, at this late day, on his way to his home in Texas. He was truly eloquent, and made us think of the sentiment, "Look ye here, here is himself married &c."—and really, and in fact, you could see the trembling soldier tottering to his home in the far off South-west. Capt. Kelley's ideas and views are large and expanded, just as his hotel is spacious and roomy.

I would like to speak of the good water, so clear and pure, that I could but exclaim, "Water bright wither for me!" Higginbottom, with his soul-stirring violin to the contrary notwithstanding.

I would like to speak of Gannels, Morgan, Cooper, Capt. Jim Farmer who helped me to rig up, and especially my old friend, John Spencer, who is "out and gone like Granger's eye."

Missed Mrs. Spencer's good coffee and rich juicy Russian bread. But notwithstanding this privation, I was like the fly in the fable that drowned in the fat, said, "that he had drunk; that he had wallowed, and he did not care if he did die."

Hoping that the annual Examination of Oxford may come twice a year, and that you may be there too.

With regards and esteem,

Your ob't. humble Serv't.

GOV. DORR.

Last week, owing to absence the greater part of the week, we omitted mention of the very excellent entertainment given us by Mr. Mitchell's School at the end of their session. From the first it was very fine, and the large audience was in raptures, in some parts of it. When we entered, Messrs Woodward and Mitchell were acting very creditably to themselves "That Little Bill." With the exception of "Water works" and possibly "Mechanics Daughter" it took better than any performance of the evening. The "Dancing Dutchman" was excellent. Our friend Sam Snow looked and talked as if he had "slashed some over"—The Music and Tableau were pleasing to the ear and eye in a high degree. Many other pieces of merit were acted in a way highly creditable to the boys. The large audience was highly amused and entertained throughout the whole evening and perfectly delighted when it came to the closing part—"Water Works." This was an excellent take off on some of our chief citizens—representing as it did their action and language during the ever memorable (in the annals of J. V.) discussion on the subject of water works, previous to the election, which resulted in the choice of that very necessary town improvement. Our Institution—i. e. Cris—was excellently taken off by Wylie Weaver. Our limited space precludes a longer notice. The boys showed off in a manner highly creditable to Mr. Mitchell we tender his congratulations.

Gen. Forney left last Saturday for Washington, to testify before the Ku-Klux Committee. He has been unable to go sooner, owing to sickness in his family.

LATEST NEWS.

ANOTHER MURDER.

Martin Mears, a farmer in good circumstances, residing near Gilman, Iroquois county, Illinois, was arrested on Saturday for murdering his boy, aged 11 years, in a most fiendish and cruel manner, on the 14th ultimo. It appears from the testimony of Mear's wife that on that day, while she lay sick in her bed, the brute stripped the child, laid him naked on a hot stove, and roasted his back in a terrible manner. He then beat him unmercifully and laid him in his sick mother's bed, where he died in a few hours. The fiend buried the murdered boy under a hedge, and then went to town and publicly advertised that his boy had run away. Suspicions were subsequently aroused that there had been foul play. Search was made for the body and the murderer arrested, and is now in jail at Watseka. Mrs. Mear witnessed the whipping and death of her boy, but was helplessly sick in child bed at the time.

Watsaka, Ill., July 5th.—Martin Mear, an Irishman confined in the county jail here awaiting trial for the burning and whipping of his 11 years old boy to death, was taken from the jail at 7 o'clock this evening and hung by an immense mob of 300 armed men, women and children. Mear gave the Masonic signal of distress, which was not responded to. He renounced the craft. He was given an opportunity to speak and pray, and confessed his guilt in an address to the crowd. He refused the benefit of prayer by a Protestant clergyman, and begged for mercy.

Chicago, July 8. A corner's inquest over the lynched man elicited the following: Mary Mear, the mother of the child, testified as follows: "My husband, Martin Mear, whipped my son Martin, aged 10 years, two weeks ago Tuesday night, and did not see the whipping, it was done in another room; I heard the blows, and heard the child beg for mercy. The child went to bed about 10 o'clock, and the next morning the child came to my bed-room followed by his father, who was whipping him very hard with a black-snake horsewhip. The child dodged around the room to avoid the blows, and begged for mercy; the child was completely naked, his father having compelled him to strip himself; his face was swollen from whipping before; his father whipped him very hard for ten or fifteen minutes when at last he stopped and told the child to put on his shirt; he made an effort to do so, but failed; his father repeated the order, when the boy said, 'I can't see! I can't see.' 'You can't see it' responded his father. 'No father, I can't see you! I can't see you! I feel like dying. The father then rubbed the boy with spirits, and forced some down his throat; the child raised his hands moved his lips and expired. Mear then took the body and put it under the bed where the sick mother was lying, and it remained there until evening, when he buried it." The testimony of the boy's sister is still more horrible.

Dayton, July 10.—A furious storm has occurred here. The German Lutheran church was prostrated; four persons were killed and twenty hurt; the bridge over the Miami was destroyed, and two boys killed; the Southern Ohio Lunatic Asylum was unroofed, and also the Roman Catholic church Miami railroad depot, and fifty other houses.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, July 11.—It is loosely stated that Parsons, of Alabama, has been appointed Assistant Attorney General with a special view to the Ku Klux prosecutions.

NEW YORK.

New York, July 11.—Kelso has instructed the police to prevent processions of either the Orangemen or the Hibernian target societies. The Orangemen of Jersey City, New Jersey, are determined to parade, and the greatest alarm exists among the citizens who are apprehensive for the safety of their persons and property. The Hibernians make no secret of their determination to attack the Orangemen, in case the latter should parade. Preparations for the expected fray are said to be very complete.

OHIO.

Cincinnati, July 11.—Details of the storm show that the county is equally unfortunate. A tree crushed a farm house near Dayton, killing two. Damages estimated at $1,000,000.

Shipwreck and Fearful Loss of Life.

The French ship Sourance has been totally wrecked on the coast of the Cape of Good Hope. All on board, including a large number of passengers, were lost. One hundred and fifty bodies had washed ashore from the wreck.

FROM MEXICO.

City of Mexico, July 2.—The Balopetax mines of Chihuahua, are yielding fabulously. One mine yields $50,000 weekly. Masses of pure silver of several hundred weight are extracted.

By the latest news from New York, a riot had taken place between the Catholics and Orangemen, in which fifteen were killed and a number wounded and rioting still going on.

There is one single fact which one may apply to all the wit and argument of infidelity—namely, that no man on his death-bed ever repented being a Christian.

Advocates of "woman suffrage" have at last found a champion who is in a position to render them some practical service. Gen. Strickland, the President of the Nebraska Constitutional Convention, now in session in Lincoln, has introduced a resolution in favor of extending the right of suffrage to all citizens of the age of twenty-one irrespective of sex. The resolution was, next day, reported favorably by the Suffrage Committee, and stands a good chance of being embodied in the fundamental law of Nebraska. If the right to vote is so highly prized by women as some of the sex would have us believe, we shall now expect to see a wholesale migration of the sisters to that rising young State. Women are said to be in great demand there, independently of their independently of their voting qualities. This may, however, be the reason why Nebraska takes the lead in holding out the tempting bait of the ballot box.

BECAUSE.

BY VIOLET HASTINGS

Because of a chair that was vacant, Be it in cottage or hall, The hearth is less bright and inviting, More lonely the twilight to all.

Because of a chord in the music Some voice shall waken no more, Because of a face that has vanished From Time's storm-beaten shore,

Because of the morning brightness That hath gone, we know not where, The heart's fresh bloom and gladness That died with our youth so fair;

Because of the shadows that lengthen As the long night cometh on, Because of a blossom that's faded, And a thing of beauty gone—

Because of all this, the sunshine Hath lost its golden glow, And the earth has lost its splendor That robed it long ago.

Because of all these, the journey Grows long to our tired feet, While further away we travel From the morning meadows sweet.

Because of all these, we weary, And long for the night to come, When the reaper may lay down his sickle

And rest in the harvest home.

And because of these, full often, We lift our weary eyes Away, where the hills of Canaan In their verdant beauty rise.

And we cease to look fondly backward As we near the River's shore, For the brightest of our treasures

We know are gone before.

Ah! 'tis well the lord hath taken Then one by one away, And left us little to cling to In this dull house of clay.

The Brazilian Chambers recently voted on the emancipation clause in the speech from the throne, and the Government was sustained by 28 majority. The debate on the Emancipation bill had not begun.

How to Look at It.—An old bachelor says that giving the ballot to women would not amount to anything practically, because they would keep denying that they were old enough to vote until they got too old to take any interest in politics.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said county, shall be published; and the Probate Judge of each county in this State, shall be the official organ in and for said county, and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published; said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act, I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ heretofore, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun, shall be published. This designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts said paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

Calhoun College.

We invite the special attention of our citizens to the Circular of the Board of Trustees of Calhoun College, to be found in this number of our paper. They will perceive that everything has been done to secure an Institution of the highest possible grade. The College buildings are large and commodious, and well adapted to educational purposes. The Teachers are gentlemen of large experience, of undisputed ability, and of life-long devotion to the interests of their profession.

We sincerely trust, therefore, that our people will see in this enterprise, not only the means of giving to their own children the advantages of a good, sound education, but that they will recognize in it the direct method of building up their town; and of contributing largely towards their pecuniary gain. Indeed, a good school will do more for Jacksonville than half a dozen railroads.

The first term, as you will perceive, will begin the last week in August. Send your children in then at once, and send all of them. We need the prestige of a good beginning. Three fourths of the communities in the State are so torn in pieces by parties and factions that they cannot have good schools. Let us pursue a wiser policy. Jacksonville is healthy, its place more so; the means of living are cheap, and the community is renowned for intelligence and good habits. There is, perhaps, no locality in the South that endures so many advantages for the upbuilding and maintenance of an Institution of learning. Let us not fail then, to avail ourselves of the blessings which Providence has placed in our hands.

Lookout Mountain Educational Institute.—Attention is invited to the Notice, in another column, of the commencement of the next session of this deservedly popular institution. Its advantages in point of able, competent and diligent Teachers; thorough instruction, moderate expense; healthy location and beautiful scenery are already well known to our readers. It is easy of access by railroad from this section; and we doubt whether parent and guardians, who send their children and wards from home to be educated, could do better than to patronize this institution.

New and Valuable Location.—We were shown last week, by Rev. E. L. McClellan, the model of an ingenious play and seed sower invented by himself, for which he designs at an early day to obtain a patent. It opens the furrow, sows the grain, and covers at the same operation. It can be used to great advantage in the cultivation of cotton. It was used by himself and brother in cultivation last year, and found to possess all the advantages claimed.

REVEREND.—Our fellow citizen, Gen. W. H. Furney, has returned in good health, from his examination before the Kin Kave committee at Washington, but we have not had time or opportunity to learn anything of the progress of the investigation.

Mr. Peter White of the Missouri Association passed through our town on Thursday on his way to visit his relatives at Gadsden, he had just returned from the School convention at Montgomery.

Railroad Extension to Tallahassee.—Through the kindness of Superintendent Barney, an invitation was extended, last week, to the citizens of Jacksonville, to visit our friends of the thriving little city of Tallahassee, an extra car having been attached to the train for our accommodation. Mrs. Judge Walker and Mrs. J. B. Peck were the presiding geni of our party.

Before leaving the depot, we witnessed many cordial greetings between our citizens, and heard some very fine singing, from two of the smallest and most cheerful daughters of song that ever gave forth harmonious sounds. They were the children of Mrs. Dr. C. of Selma, who, like the Roman actor Cornelia, has surely a good and sufficient right to be proud of her little jewels.

Music is of all other sciences the most elevating and refining in its influences, and the education of no child is complete unless equipped, as it were, with this beautiful and pleasing accomplishment.

After a delightful run down the road—stopping a moment at the sweet little village of Ocala, to increase the number of our party—we arrived, at length, at the Tallahassee depot.

Here we were met by many choice spirits, who seemed to vie with each other as to which should show us the most cordial and heart-felt welcome. The skies being somewhat unpropitious, and the rain falling, we were prevented from resorting to the beautiful grove which had been selected for our picnic arrangements; but, after clearing out the depot, we found ourselves not only well provided with shelter from the storm, but furnished with a roomy and convenient hall for conversation, promenading, and other social intercourse with our friends.

Just here let me indulge the rather selfish remark, that, on this occasion, I had the pleasure of meeting with some old College-mates, towards whom my heart involuntarily warmed, and to whom it went out in kindly sympathy as in the days of yore.

"Green be the paths before ye
Friends of my happier years."
May each, as he reverts in memory to that moonlight track upon the waters of youth, gather fresh inspiration from its sweet recollections, and inspiring associations.

After passing a most agreeable afternoon at the depot, the young folks, by special invitation, adjourned to the spacious parlors of Major Burr, where the song and dance and sweet converse with kindred spirits, caused time to fly by.

on golden wings. Many were the lovely forms that floated in the promenade, and skinned by us in the intoxicating waltz. The truth is that Tallahassee, Ocala and Jacksonville can furnish as many pretty and intelligent girls as are to be found in the most highly favored localities of the State of Alabama, renowned as she is, the world over, for her beautiful and well-informed women.

Were it not deemed invidious, I would mention one—our "bright, particular star"—that shone so beautifully resplendent in that incomparable galaxy of beauty. With a mind adorned with the richest jewels of learning and wisdom, a soul-speaking face, and a form that drew the gaze of every eye—the "observed of all observers." In truth, her every attitude was grace, her every look spoke innocence and truth.

Queen-like, as Diana "hid her mountain limbs,"
"She moved as if her element were light,
And music were the echo of her steps."

But enough of this senseless raving; barely pardonable in a young man, when in presence of the deity he adores.

Your correspondent was unlucky enough to miss the return train the next day, but this seemingly untoward detention only served further to illustrate the untroubled and never relaxing hospitality of our good neighbors of Tallahassee. Like Noy, on the retreat from Moscow, if you will pardon the vanity conveyed in the simile—your humble servant was emphatically the "rear-guard of the grand army" of pleasure seekers.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, suffer me to observe, that we found Tallahassee quite a live place. Notwithstanding the dullness of the season, many improvements are going on in the city, and there are still others in contemplation. When the system of Railroads shall have been completed, and her schools shall have been organized upon a proper basis, Tallahassee will assume the grand and beautiful proportions of a great and thriving commercial center.

To the police and attentive Capt. Barney, as well as to the ladies composing the committee of invitation, we beg leave to return our sincere thanks for a most agreeable and delightful trip. May health, happiness and prosperity ever attend them throughout all the journey of life.

Hair Vigor.—It is common with many others who have felt a lively interest in the investigations which Dr. Ayer has been making to discover the causes of failure of the hair, and to provide a remedy. His researches are said to have been much more thorough and exhaustive than any other, and he has discovered the cause of the disease as under the name of Ayer's Hair Vigor. We have given it a trial and with full satisfaction. It equals our most favorable anticipations. Our gray hair has disappeared, and the new growth is of a rich color and a visible crop of soft, silken hair has started on a part of the scalp which was entirely bald. Democrat, Abingdon, Va.

She often finds her slightest occupation a weary task and existence a burden.
